

NEWS OF THE WORLD

* Our friend Gaston MEYER has just resigned as Editor of L'Equipe, French sports daily, to write, in particular, his memoirs, which are awaited with interest. He will, however, continue to follow events in the Olympic world for his newspaper. Edouard SEIDLER, brilliant sporting journalist, experienced in all the disciplines, will take over as Editor. He will be assisted by the famous Olympic athlete, Marcel HANSENNE. Our very best wishes.

To celebrate its first international exhibition, the National Art Museum of Sport showed a collection of 55 paintings in oils and water colours, loaned by the famous London Gallery, Frost & Reed Ltd.

The pictures, mainly of English landscapes, regattas and race-courses, will be put up for sale at the Madison Square Gallery, as well as in the principal centres of the country.

Among the artists represented, we note Henry ALKEN, Montague DAWSON, John FERNELEY, J.F. HERRING, Michaël LYNE and Alfred MUNNINGS.

* An exhibition of sports posters took place at the Turn-Und Sportmuseum of Bâle during the month of September.

* An exhibition of the "75th Anniversary of the Swiss Football Association" was also held at the Turn-Und Sportmuseum of Bâle during the month of October.

The organisers of this event used a new approach: instead of issuing a commemorative brochure for the 75th Anniversary of the Swiss Football Association, they wanted to give the visitors a summary of the development of this association.

The organiser of this exhibition was the well known artist, Alex W. DIGGELMANN, from Zürich.

 Edgar THILL, assistant professor of psychology and the School of Tours (France), has just passed his studies of the third cycle on the theme: "The Sportsman's Personality".*
